Risk Factors

This document is a financial promotion for the First Sentier Responsible Listed Infrastructure Fund in the UK and elsewhere where lawful. Investing involves certain risks including:

- The value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up and are not guaranteed. Investors may get back substantially less than the original amount invested.
- Emerging market risk: Emerging markets tend to be more sensitive to economic and political conditions than developed markets. Other factors include greater liquidity risk, restrictions on investment or transfer of assets, failed/delayed settlement and difficulties valuing securities.
- Single sector risk: investing in a single economic sector may be riskier than investing in a number of different sectors. Investing in a larger number of sectors helps to spread risk.
- Currency risk: The Fund invests in assets which are denominated in other currencies; changes in exchange rates will affect the value of the Fund and could create losses. Currency control decisions made by governments could affect the value of the Fund's investments and could cause the Fund to defer or suspend redemptions of its shares.
- Concentration risk: The Fund invests in a relatively small number of companies which may be riskier than a Fund that invests in a large number of companies.
- Listed Infrastructure Risk: the Fund may be vulnerable to factors that particularly affect the infrastructure sector, for example natural disasters, operational disruption and national and local environmental laws.

Reference to specific securities (if any) is included for the purpose of illustration only and should not be construed as a recommendation to buy or sell. Reference to the names of any company is merely to explain the investment strategy and should not be construed as investment advice or a recommendation to invest in any of those companies.

Commentary

31 March 2025

Market Review

Global listed infrastructure gained during the March quarter as mounting tariff concerns drove a rotation into defensive assets. The Fund returned +1.5% before fees, compared with a +2.7% return from its benchmark index.

Performance Review

Towers were buoyed by healthy December quarter earnings numbers and lower bond yields. Regulated utilities gained on the appeal of their lack of sensitivity to tariffs and the broader economic environment, and inelastic demand for their essential services.

However, airports fell owing to the relative sensitivity of passenger volumes to the broader economic environment. Railroads declined as investors became concerned about the potential impact that US tariffs may have on North American freight haulage. Data centres also ended the quarter lower, on news that Microsoft had pulled back from new data centre projects in the US, Europe and Australia.

Fund Activity

The Fund initiated a position in US-listed tower company Crown Castle, which owns and operates a portfolio of approximately ~40,000 mobile towers across the United States. The company earns revenue by collecting rent from mobile phone companies who install network equipment on its towers. In March, the company divested its substantial fibre and small cell business segment – assets we view as having weaker infrastructure credentials than its core tower business. Following this transaction, the company's valuation multiples have scope to expand due to growing awareness its higher quality asset profile, improving tower leasing trends, and its unique appeal as the only pure-play tower stock with a business footprint located solely in the US.

Outlook

The Fund invests in a range of listed infrastructure assets including toll roads, airports, railroads, utilities and renewables, mobile towers and data centres. These sectors share common characteristics, like barriers to entry and pricing power, which can provide investors with inflation-protected income and strong capital growth over the medium-term. The Fund's focus on sustainable development, guided by the UN Sustainable Development Goals, can create opportunities for positive risk-adjusted performance. It can generate investment ideas, as well as lowering the overall risk profile of a portfolio through a better understanding of Responsible Investment-related risks.

Trump's early-April "Liberation Day" tariff announcement has caused turbulence in financial markets. Equity markets fell sharply on investor uncertainty and concerns about potential risks to the global economy. If the tariffs are implemented in their current form, the likeliest outcomes appear to be a period of slower economic growth and higher inflation.

Typically, these conditions favour the global listed infrastructure asset class, at least in relative terms. Infrastructure growth is less dependent on the economic cycle, and many infrastructure assets have a proven ability to recover inflation. Recent falls in bond yields are also likely to prove supportive of infrastructure valuations.

Overall, we believe that the asset class remains well-positioned to perform defensively through this period of market disruption.
